SURPRISE THEATER.

Florence Lawrence and Matt Moore will appear in a two-reel feature at the Surprise theater today called "The Doctor's Testimony". Jealousy, it has been said, is the one passion of the human soul that causes more suffering, heart anguish, domestic tragedies and the most brutal crimes than any other. At least, in the case of the husband in this play it amounts to passion. He misinterprets the presence of his business partner visiting in his home. The partner was there because he loved the children. The husband thought his wife was the attraction. And in thinking this and making unjust accusations he brings himself sudden and unlooked for complications that threaten his life and happiness. Buried forcibly in this story is a lesson that is worth taking to heart. "Our Mutual Girl", reel 16, will be shown, in which Margaret dances at Castle House, visits with Briggs and "P. P. A." and has an encounter with a burglar.

Beginning next Monday "The Million Dollar Mystery" story will start at the Surprise. This is Thanhouser's million dollar motion picture story. There are nine miles of film involving love, romance and adventure. Forty-six reels of startling surprise, new thrills, stupendous staging and such in this gigantic, new serial production.

VITAGRAPH DAY.

Today is Vitagraph day at the Auditorium. All of the pictures to be shown, six reels in all, are from the Vitagraph company's studios. "Too Many Husbands" is a two-part comedy by Anthony Wills, with a strong cast including Harry Davenport, Jane Morrow, Sidney Drew, Etienne Girardot and Hughie Mack. The story in brief concerns Uncle Crane, who receives a letter from his nephew, Arthur, saying he is married and enclosing a photo purporting to be his wife. Uncle is delighted and decides to pay him a visit. Arthur desperately confesses to Mr. Brown, his landlord, that he sent Mrs. Brown's photo to his uncle and begs them to help him out. Uncle and his ward, Dorothy, with whom Arthur is in love, arrive, and the trouble begins in earnest. There is a row over the christening of Brown's baby, and after witnessing love scenes between Brown and his wife and Arthur and Dorothy, poor uncle is about "all in." The whole affair is at last straightened out and ends very happily. The action, characters and situations are exceedingly funny throughout. "The Call" is a two reel drama featuring E. J. Lincoln, Edith Storey and Leo Delaney, and "The Prince of Evil" is a sensational story with Edith Storey, Roger Lytton and Anita Stewart in the cast.

WOMAN WITNESS NOW IN INSANE ASYLUM

Mrs. Angel Imagines She is Still in Witness Chair in Baltimore Case.

STAMFORD, Conn., June 26.—Mrs. Helen M. Angel, singer and divorcee to whose apartment a trail of blood led from the body of Walter R. Ballou and against whom much more damaging evidence was adduced Friday by the police, was Friday night a patient in the sanitarium of Dr. A. J. Stevens, just outside this city. She is almost uncontrollable. She imagines she is still in the witness chair surrounded by the blood-stained garments, the flat iron and the other articles found in her flat—now court exhibits.

Mrs. Angel was released on $5,000 bail given by her father, Leonard Blondell, wealthy retired contractor and politician. Common humanity inspired the acceptance of the bond. One more night in a cell would have destroyed her reason, physicians said. The release followed a nerve-racking attempt to introduce her testimony in court. The woman dared to tell her story; counsel forbade her. Under the sharp questioning of the coroner, in the stifling heat of the crowded court room and bowed under the weight of much additional evidence against her, the woman presented a picture of desolation and despair which many of the spectators were unable to endure.

Some More Reasons

For wanting the BELER

Water Heater

Monday morning the wash woman—laundress—comes; there's a rush to get things ready and have the water hot. LOTS of hot water for wash day and yet enough for all IS A CONVENIENCE.

Another: Teach the little ones to bathe often; use the shower or spray daily followed by brisk rubbing. Ah! imagine their little bodies taking on increased strength and vitality and vigor. This will suggest other good things, and what a comfort to you to know that you were able and willing to get these for your little ones.
